

Terms of Use

Ten simple rules to stay good friends with us

Let us all keep our cool

The Website rijo-research.de and its affiliate blogs are noncommercial information services. This principle is an indispensable prerequisite for the institutions and individuals that entrusted us with texts and photographs. Also we are investing quite an amount of time, work and money into them. For these reasons our visitors are required to accept the following terms of use:

1. Any part of rijo-research.de and its affiliate blogs including the design and the code is protected by German copyright law indifferent of the respective regulations in the visitor's country (which also means Russia, you measly thieves). By displaying the copyright mark © this protection is extended explicitly to the USA.
2. The utilization, in particular the downloading of any part of rijo-research.de and its affiliate blogs, is legal for private purposes only.
3. Any publication of our texts in other places on the Internet or other media is illegal without our prior consent, whether in its original format or converted.
4. We categorically reject the use of our texts and the information contained as well as our photos, graphics, link lists or designs for commercial purposes.
5. According to German copyright law our prior consent is not necessary for links to rijo-research.de and its affiliate blogs and brief literal quotations highlighted as such by common standards.
6. We explicitly encourage the use of our material in schools, universities and adult education. Please contact us for further details providing a brief outline of your project and the intended purposes.

7. Any violation of our copyright and rights as the originators of rijo-research.de which is our intellectual property, will be prosecuted by any means anywhere (damages, shutdown of the violators domain). Be assured: We mean it because we tend to take unfairness somewhat personally. If you still do not believe ask for a list of people and entities we already made pay for their misdemeanor.
8. These terms of use are considered to be accepted even though the visitor has not read them for reasons of his or her own negligence, because they are easily accessible.
9. We reject any legal liability for the contents of sites linked to ours.
10. Only a fool considers himself to be smarter than other people.

rijo

Index

Home