

Allied soldiers and resistance fighters from the Nuremberg-Fürth area during WW2

The following list is supposed to be both a memorial for the men and women from our region who actively fought the Axis Powers and an appeal to our visitors to add more information detailing the biographies of those already mentioned or contribute new names.

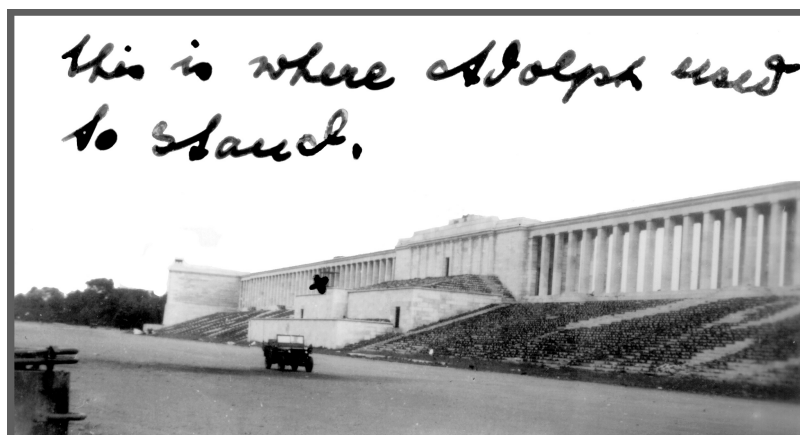

To our knowledge this is the first effort to compile such a roll of honor for Allied soldiers and resistance fighters who originated from a specific area in Germany before their expulsion by the Nazis. Their walks of life were intertwined in multiple ways as relatives, schoolmates, friends, refugees and eventually servicemen united in the aim to overthrow murderous regimes.

We want to dedicate this work to the memory of Mr. Frank A. Harris (1922 - 2017), founder of the Nuremberg-Fürth Survivors' Group for his support of the project since 2011 by correspondence and making available to us the back-issues of the group's newsletter as a most valuable source. We are also indebted to the participants in our survey of February 2012 among Nuremberg-Fürth families who shared with us biographical data and photographs.

In January 2014 we added a separate list at the end of the file of emigrants who do not fit the roster for being no Nuremberg-Fürthers or served in the forces of non-Allied countries in order to record also this information we got in the course of our research.

In 2015 an initiative of locals, U.S. Army Veterans and their descendants proposed to the Lord Mayor of Nuremberg the naming of the street in front of Zeppelin Grandstand at former Nazi Party Rally Grounds after Staff Sergeant Stephen S. Mosbacher who was killed trying to rescue fellow soldiers from the hands of Waffen-SS as a symbolic act honoring by his example all the Allied fighters originating from here. The Lord Mayor declined the move without asking the city council for its vote.

Snapshot by Frank Harris of the Zeppelin Grandstand with personal remark, spring 1945

Since then, annually on Stephen's date of death we publish an obituary in the regional newspaper reminding the public of this utter failure and will do so until it is corrected:

THEY WILL NOT BE FORGOTTEN.
